9 Feb 2007 (Friday), 7.30am - 8.30am
Auditorium, National University Hospital,
Level 3 Kent Ridge Wing

“Consequences of Unprofessional Behaviour in Medical School”

Speaker: Dr Maxine Papadakis
Associate Dean for Student Affairs
School of Medicine, University of California, San Francisco, USA

Chairman: A/Prof Khoo Hoon Eng
Deputy Head (Pre-Clinical), Medical Education Unit, NUS

Dr Papadakis is a native Californian and grew up in the San Francisco Peninsula. After finishing her medicine residency at Johns Hopkins Hospital, she came back to the San Francisco Bay Area in 1980 for a Kaiser fellowship at UCSF, and has been there ever since. Much of her early research has been in clinical outcome studies, including the role of growth hormone in aging. In 1988, she became the medicine clerkship director and stayed in that position for 10 years. In 1998, she joined the Dean's office in the position she now holds. Her current research is on the assessment of professionalism in medical students. Her sentinel work has opened a new field which linked unprofessional behavior in medical school with subsequent disciplinary action by practicing physicians. Dr Papadakis is a co-editor of the annually published textbooks Current Medical Diagnosis and Treatment and Current Consult: Medicine. Dr Papadakis is the recipient of many teaching awards, including the coveted UCSF Academic Senate Distinction in Teaching Award.
