Course Description

Small group teaching - learning has become the cornerstone of contemporary medical / health professional education.

Learning in small groups optimises deeper understanding of content knowledge, develop collaborative learning among peers as well as develop important domain-independent skills (e.g., communication, team-work) relevant for future practice. However, for the above to be realised, small groups must be effectively conducted through appropriate facilitatory skills.

This workshop will give you the theory, demonstrate few small group teaching / learning formats and provide you with hands-on sessions where you will practice what you have learnt.

Recommended for teachers / tutors and senior students who facilitate small group tutorials.
