Course Description

Small group teaching - learning has become the cornerstone of contemporary medical / health professional education.

Learning in small groups optimizes firstly, student engagement in learning, deeper understanding of content knowledge, develops collaborative learning among peers and also develops important domain-independent skills (e.g., communication, team-work) relevant for future practice. However, for the above to be realised, small groups must be effectively conducted through appropriate facilitation skills.

This workshop will give you the theory, demonstrate a few small group teaching / learning formats and provide you with hands-on sessions where you will practice what you have learned.

Recommended for teachers / tutors and senior students who facilitate small group tutorials.
