

LESSONS LEARNT DURING THE PANDEMIC & STRATEGIES IN THE NEW NORMAL

-INNOVATION IN CLINICAL TRAINING-

DATE: FRIDAY, 21 MAY 2021

11.30AM (+7 GMT)/12.30PM (+8 GMT)

Facilitating acquisition of Clinical Skills in a Pandemic: A Clinician's Perspective

Mary J Marret
Professor, University of Malaya

Mary J Marret is a paediatrician and Professor in the Department of Paediatrics, Faculty of Medicine, University of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. Dr Marret has been involved in undergraduate and postgraduate teaching for more than two decades. She is a Fellow of the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health, UK, and examiner for the MRCPCH clinical examinations. She is currently a faculty advisor on clinical assessment for the undergraduate medical programme.

This presentation describes the experience of the medical faculty of a public university in Malaysia in addressing the delivery of clinical teaching within the context of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Establishment of Pediatric Surgery Fellowship Training Program in Lao PDR through Online Collaboration with Japan during COVID-19 Pandemic Era

Alongkone Phengsanvanh
Vice-Dean, University of Health Sciences Laos

Alongkone Phengsanvanh is an Obstetrician / Epidemiologist and completed full training in Obstetrics & Gynecology and Epidemiology. Currently, Dr Phengsanvanh is the Vice-Dean at Faculty of Medicine, University of Health Sciences, Laos. He heads the National Task Force for Strategic Objectives for Improvement of Maternal Health (SO2) and is also the Chief of National Technical Committee for Maternal Death Surveillance and Response. He serves as the external reviewer for WHO handbook for prevention of Unsafe Abortion (edited version). Dr Phengsanvanh is keen in quantitative research in Medical Education, Reproductive Health and Obstetrics & Gynecology.

Register at <http://bit.ly/amsn2105>