

Graduate Certificate in Child & Family Health in the Community (GCCFH)

Advance Your Expertise in Child and Family Health to Deliver Holistic Care and Lasting Impact

The Graduate Certificate in Child & Family Health in the Community (GCCFH) aims to enhance the competencies of registered nurses, as well as professionals in the allied health, social, and education sectors in providing holistic and comprehensive support for women and their children to achieve optimal health and well-being. Aligned with the Ministry of Health’s strategic direction, it integrates professional and academic perspectives that examine the determinants, mechanisms, and systems influencing the health, safety, and development of children and families—allowing graduates to contribute to the future health and welfare of society across generations.
