Lee Foundation NHG-NUHS Lifetime Achievement Award 2013

Professor Yap Hui Kim
Department of Paediatrics

The prestigious Lee Foundation NHG-NUHS Lifetime Achievement Award recognises outstanding clinician leaders from NHG and NUHS in clinical, education and research excellence. Professor Yap Hui Kim is a pioneer of the Paediatric Nephrology service at NUHS and in Singapore. She was instrumental in starting and developing the National Paediatric Renal Replacement Programme (Dialysis and Transplantation for children) in 1988. Her unwavering commitment to the medical industry is underscored by her pivotal clinical achievements, immense contributions to medical education, and active participation in regional and international research platforms.

NUS Outstanding Service Award 2013

Professor John Wong Eu-Li
Department of Medicine

The NUS Outstanding Service Award recognises sustained meritorious service to the department, faculty, university, national and/or international communities. It also encompasses contributions to governmental and non-governmental organisations. Professor John Wong Eu-Li is recognised as a major architect of Singapore's fast-growing life science landscape. He has played a key role in building up the quality of oncology and life sciences research, nurtured bright young clinicians and clinician-scientists, and recruited world-class talents to Singapore.

Emeritus Professor

Professor Ling Eng Ang
Department of Anatomy

The title of Emeritus Professor is conferred in recognition of distinguished scholarship and outstanding service to the University. Professor Ling Eng Ang is an eminent neuroscientist, whose long-abiding research interest and leadership in the biology of microglia has received many international accolades. As Head of Anatomy from 1998-2008, Prof Ling was pivotal in developing the Department into an emerging regional hub for Human Anatomy Education and a Centre of Excellence in Asia. He is tirelessly committed to the highest standards of academic scholarship, leadership and service.

Faculty Awards AY2011/2012

All the faculty staff featured in this special edition are distinguished by their exceptional accomplishments and dedication to medical education and research in NUS. Recipients of the Teaching Excellence Awards went through a three-phase selection process, which included a rigorous examination of student feedback and peer reviews. Only 10% of the faculty's academic population is selected each year for this award. The Research Excellence Awards were given out based on the recipients' research track record and the overall impact of their research. Significant breakthroughs or outstanding accomplishments were also recognised.
