

Mr Shane Lee

Chief Financial Officer,
Head of Risk Management,
National University Hospital

Faculty Profile

Shane Lee has over 23 years of experience in Finance, and is an alumnus of KPMG, Citibank and the Royal Bank of Scotland. He has been serving in public healthcare since 2013 and was responsible for the pricing and costing of services for the Ng Teng Fong General Hospital and the Jurong Community Hospital when both opened their doors in 2015.

As the current Chief Financial Officer and the Head of Risk Management at the National University Hospital, Shane provides senior Finance leadership, guiding the hospital through the COVID-19 pandemic and the implementation of Epic's Next Generation Electronic Medical Records (NGEMR). His team was involved in the inaugural computation of the carbon output of a public hospital in Singapore. Shane also leads the Pricing & Costing Centre of Excellence for the National University Health System (NUHS), responsible for the pricing strategy and costing methodologies of NUHS's institutions.

Shane holds a Bachelor of Accountancy from the Nanyang Technological University and is a Chartered Accountant with the Institute of Singapore Chartered Accountants. He attended the Advanced Management Program at IMD in Lausanne, Switzerland, and was awarded the Public Administration Medal (Bronze) (COVID-19) in 2022 for his efforts during the global pandemic.
